

City of Big Readers

13. In addition to plenty of expensive outfits to go with each of the dolls, there are a series of books for each American Girl. The store is at Michigan and Chestnut- how many US flags are on the Chestnut side of the street?
14. Studs Lonigan was the creation of James T. Farrell and one of the earliest heroes of Chicago literature. His house is at 5730 S. Michigan. Who is the building managed by?
15. Oprah and her book club managed to repopularize reading. According to the sign on her studios at 110 N Carpenter, where does the audience enter?
16. The House on Mango Street is another well-known Chicago book. The house isn't actually on Mango Street- it's at 1524 N Campbell. When does street cleaning take place?
17. While heading up north, we found a delightfully named bookstore- Armadillo's Pillow. It's at 6753 N. Sheridan. How much does one book in the Street Reads section cost?
18. A beloved children's author has a statue at Stockton and Dickens. Who is it?
19. Saul Bellow is a Chicago author who has won both the Pulitzer and Nobel prizes. He lived for quite a while at 2629 W. Augusta. How many stairs lead to his door?
20. Lorraine Hansbury's most famous work, A Raisin in the Sun, is based on her family's own experiences in Chicago. You can find their home at 6140 S. Rhodes. How many glass squares surround the door?
21. The Occult Bookstore, 1164 North Milwaukee Avenue, is probably one Chicago's stranger book shops. What numbers will you find in the shield in the door? (make sure you get them in the correct order!)
22. Adam Langer's Crossing California is one of the newer critically acclaimed books coming out of Chicago. It focuses on Jewish families in West Rodgers Park, all of whom attend synagogue at Ner Tamid, 2754 W. Rosemont. What year was it built?
23. What's the headline of this week's Chicago Reader?
24. There are many stories that take place at the Art Institute, 111 S Michigan, including The Time Traveler's Wife and Willa Cather's "The Song of the Lark". What are their garden hours?
25. There are no Children Here is the story of two boys growing up in the Henry Horner homes. If you head over there, you'll notice that the high rises have been demolished and that townhouses line the streets instead. Who/what will you find in the window at 2021 W. Randolph?